Welcome!

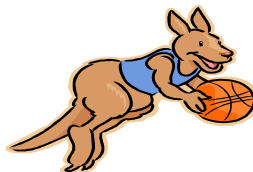

Our topic this term is 'This Morning I Met a Whale' by Michael Murpurgo. It is based on the story of the whale stranded in the River Thames in 2006. Much language and other curricular work will come from this topic. We have researched bottlenose whales, and will be doing further geographical and geological study of the coasts of UK and further north.

In maths, we will be covering angles, fractions, division with hundreds and number work dealing in thousands.

In art, we have already done paintings of the Houses of Parliament, emulating the style of the impressionist painter, Claude Monet.

Resilience is our Health and Wellbeing topic. The children are learning how to cope with concerns and bounce back when necessary. They will exercise appropriate coping strategies as situations arise.

In P.E. we are following a fitness programme and enjoying games to keep fit.
